The Company previously issued to the Lender a Convertible Promissory Note dated June 9, 2021 in the principal amount of $4,210,000.00 (the “June Note”). Pursuant to the Amendment to June Note, the parties agreed to extend the maturity date for the June Note until June 9, 2023. In consideration of the Lender's grant of the extension, its fees incurred in preparing the Amendment to June Note and other accommodations set forth therein, the Company agreed to pay to the Lender an extension fee equal to two percent (2%) of the outstanding balance of the June Note, which equals $30,068.44. In addition, the Company agreed to reduce the aggregate outstanding balance of the June Note together with the outstanding balance of the September Note (as defined below) and November Note (as defined below) issued by the Company in favor of the Lender in accordance with the following schedule: (a) at least $350,000 in November 2022; (b) at least $400,000 in December 2022; (c) at least $450,000 in January 2023; and (d) at least $500,000 for each month thereafter until the June Note, the September Note and the November Note are both paid in full. A fee equal to one percent (1%) of the outstanding balance of the June Note will be added to the outstanding balance for each month in which the Company fails to comply with the foregoing minimum aggregate balance reduction schedule. In addition, if the Company fails to reduce the aggregate outstanding balance of the June Note, the September Note and the November Note by the required monthly amount in four (4) separate months, then the Lender has the right to call an Event of Default (as defined in the June Note) with respect to such failure at any time thereafter.
